

Match the shelfie to the selfie - a game celebrating non-fiction authors!

Print off and cut out the photos in this game pack and then see if you can match the non-fiction author with their shelf.

Look for clues such as books on similar topics to those they write about. Maybe you'll spot a book or two by the author themselves on their shelves.

You could pin up all the photos on a board or have them loose on a table for people to pick up and look at.

Either way, the "scorecard" on the next page may be useful for recording your matches.

When everyone has made their matches, tot up the correct answers and perhaps have a prize to give to those who have made the most correct matches.

Answers to the game can be found at <http://www.fcbg.org.uk/national-non-fiction-november-2016/>

When you've played this game why not tell each other about what people would find on YOUR bookshelves?

What non-fiction books would you like on your shelves, which you don't currently have?

How do you arrange your books at home? How are the books in your school library/public library arranged?

Thank you to all the non-fiction authors who helped create this game.

Match the shelfie to the selfie

Can you match the non-fiction author with their bookshelf?

Shelf number

Moira Butterfield

Sean Callery

Dan Green

Susie Hodge

Maggie Li

Nicola Morgan

Adam Murphy.....

Raman Prinja

Stewart Ross

Andy Seed

Isabel Thomas

Alex Woolf

Alex Woolf

Meet the Vikings (Encounters with the Past) is one of Alex's 2016 books. He often writes about history.

Adam Murphy

Adam Murphy writes and draws biographies of famous (dead) people in comic strip format. His Corpse Talk appears regularly in The Phoenix Comic.

Andy Seed

Andy Seed's The Silly Book of Side-Splitting Stuff won the 2015 Blue Peter Book Awards (Best Book with Facts).

Sean Callery

Sean Callery is the magic link between the Titanic, meat-eating plants and the Tour de France cycle race, as these are all topics he has written about.

Raman Prinja

Raman Prinja is an astronomer, professor and author of multiple books on space and stars for children and young people, including Wonders of the Planets, Science Crazy, The Universe Rocks and Night Sky Watcher.

Stewart Ross

Stewart Ross has published more than 250 books. His Into the Unknown has won several awards.

Isabel Thomas

Isabel Thomas is a science writer and author of more than 100 books for children and young people. Recent books include Self Destructing Science: Space, How to Change the World and The Misadventures of Charles Darwin.

Nicola Morgan

Nicola Morgan has written almost 100 books including The Teenage Guide to Stress and Blame my Brain.

Dan Green

Dan Green specialises in writing about science. He's been shortlisted for both the Royal Society's Young People's Book Prize and the School Library Association Information Book Prize this year!

Susie Hodge

Susie Hodge is an author, art historian, historian and artist. Recent books include My Big Art Show and Extreme Science: Celebrity Snapper: Taking the Ultimate Photo.

Maggie Li

Maggie Li's books include Big City Explorer, Bug Detective and The Amazing Body Detectives. As well as being a non-fiction author and illustrator, she is the art director for OKIDO magazine.

Moira Butterfield

Moira Butterfield's books include award-winning work for under-5s, books with novelty components, highly commended historical, natural history and science non-fiction. Recent titles include Homes Around the World and Everybody Feels Angry.

1

2

3

4

5

6

7

8

9

10

11

12

